In the every-dayness of your caregiving lies something more: sacredness.”*

J. Miller - The Grit and Grace of Being a Caregiver

Are you caring for a loved one? Do you feel burdened, isolated, alone? Do you know that the healthiest way to care for another is to care for yourself? Caring for a family member at home or in a nursing home, can be lonely, even overwhelming. During these two sessions, Sister Margaret and Sister Betty of our SAGE ministry will help you explore these issues, offering support and sources of information.

Attendees will benefit most by being present at both sessions; however, attendance at either session will be of value.

Restoring the Covenant

“We are asked to examine our lives and to reflect on how we are living the Gospel call to love and care for each other, and not to forget the least of these.”

New York’s Catholic Bishops in Restoring the Covenant

Living God’s Covenant with the Poor On Long Island: Stories of Hope and Support

Restoring God’s Covenant with the Poor: Stories of Hope and Support

On March 8, 2005, as over 1,000 Catholic advocates gathered in Albany to bring our Gospel values into the halls of New York State’s Government, the Bishops of New York released Restoring the Covenant: A Pastoral Letter on Society’s Responsibility to the Poor and Vulnerable. In their pastoral letter, the Bishops write, “The Gospel and our social teaching require special concern and attention toward people who are struggling with poverty.” That special concern is God’s Covenant, which the Bishops remind us, “must be maintained, not weakened, and even strengthened where necessary as we set” our public-policy and community priorities.

The Bishops’ call to restore God’s Covenant with the poor and vulnerable draws from the Church’s direct experience with suffering New Yorkers, an experience that has generated many stories of hope and support. In their pastoral letter, the Bishops write of what they have learned from these stories.

These stories have raised significant questions for us. How are the poorest among us faring? We are concerned that, in spite of the prevalence of these stories..., poor and vulnerable people are in danger of being forgotten. Our social and moral teaching requires that we never turn our eyes and our help from those who are hurting, those who are living on the margins. The Covenant demands that we always reach out to them.

Historian Christopher Lasch observed that Americans, once a people of hope, have become a people of optimism. Optimism, he noted, is the simplistic belief that life will always get better. Hope, grounded in America’s faith traditions, is the understanding that pain and suffering are always with us and that progress is not inevitable. A people of hope, Lasch wrote, understand that they have a higher calling to help one another cope with pain and suffering, to serve each other and the community during hard times.

In the coming weeks, you will be reading Long Island stories of hope drawn from the life of service to poor and vulnerable people in Catholic parishes and in Catholic Charities throughout the Diocese of Rockville Centre.

33rd Sunday of Ordinary Time

Financial planners help their clients take advantage of compound interest to make investments grow faster. A good financial plan can help us achieve our goals, do a lot of good for others, and make retirement a little more secure. Using money wisely and saving often is key to successful investing.

The parable of the talents is an example of spiritual investment. Each servant is entrusted with a number of talents while the master is away. The talents are put to work so that they grow and earn even more. The successful servant works hard and invests wisely so that he can show a profit. The unsuccessful servant caves in to fear, hiding his talents and not even making a minimal effort.

Like our finances, our spiritual life needs a plan. Besides Mass and prayer, there is so much more we can do. A little time and attention to our choices can lead to great success. Sacraments, education, social action, and ministry all offer possibilities for growing our faith and reaping the rewards for ourselves and our communities. Don't leave it to chance. Choose well how you will invest your faith and beliefs. You have nothing to lose and heaven to gain!

Thank you for being there for me...

When we talk about reaching women facing unplanned pregnancies, it's easy to get nervous and ask, "What would I say to her? How would I connect with her?"

The answer is not in what we say, but in simply being available. If we will listen, if we can empathize and share the love of Jesus Christ, the other answers fall into place. If you have a heart to "be there" for a young woman in this situation, call us. Together we can make a difference in her life. Life Center of Long Island at 631.243.2373.
