Prayer for Graduates

God of our beginnings,
We thank you for the gifts of these graduates;
their excitement, their awesome wonder and curiosity,
their open speech and encouraging words.
Their contributions have blessed and challenged us,
and we have become a richer
and more diverse community because of them.
As they step forward into the world that awaits, comfort their fears with the full knowledge of your divine presence.
Strengthen their resolve to walk in the footsteps of Jesus as modern-day disciples in a world that needs their spirit.
Guide their feet as they move through life, protecting them from the pitfalls of darkness
while they help to lead future generations into the warmth and promise of your light.
We ask this blessing upon each of them,
In the name of the Father, the Son,
and the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Fr. Michael Holzmann

We received word this week that Fr. Mike Holzmann, chaplain at St. John the Baptist High School, will be changing his residence this June 27. Fr. Michael has been at OLL since last September as our weekend assistant and we have enjoyed his wonderful homilies at Mass and sharing in the life of the OLL community.

Fr. Michael will be remaining as chaplain at St. John's but his new "weekend home" will be at Our Lady of Perpetual Help in Lindenhurst. We are surely thankful to Fr. Michael for being with us this year and sharing his gift of priesthood with us.

Family Liturgy and Children's Liturgy of the Word

During the Month of August (Sunday August 5th, 12th, 17th, and 26th), there will be No dismissal of the Children for the Liturgy of the word. We encourage Families to continue to attend the 9:30 liturgy for those 4 Sundays, as the Liturgy, music, and usual family spirit will remain the same.

The Family Liturgy committee thanks you for this indulgence as they take the time to renew themselves. We will start up the dismissal again on September 2nd and be back in full swing for our "Welcome Back to School Sunday" celebration on September 9th (with a blessing of backpacks and school supplies)

Prayer for Divine Mercy

An invitation to all men and women to be part of God's plan. We invite you to meet in prayer for the world and our nation to put their trust in God.

Our hope is that the nations will have a new spirit of morality. Please come with your love and hope for humanity as well as your prayer requests.

We gather together every Thursday at 1:30 PM before the Blessed Sacrament for about one half hour. For more information, call Charles Argento at 586.8528.

Support Groups

Alcoholics Anonymous: Monday and Tuesday at 8 PM and Saturday at 2 PM and 7 PM in Lourdes Hall-convent lower level.

Spiritual Direction

What is Spiritual direction?

Spiritual Direction is a specialized ministry in the Church. The need for Spiritual Direction comes when you desire to develop a deeper relationship with God, when your search for God seems to be a crossroad, when you feel a need for a companion on your spiritual journey. The director assists you in becoming more aware of whom God is for you, in helping you notice God's movement in the events of your life. The director is a companion on life's journey, asking reflective questions and pointing our resources that may help you on your spiritual journey.

The following is a listing of Commissioned Spiritual Directors here in Our Lady of Lourdes Parish.

Michael Dunne
Valerie Dunne
Deacon John DeGuardi
Jack Fitzgerald
Vita Scorgia
Margaret Valenti

Call the Parish Office at 661.3224, option 1, if you have an interest in Spiritual Direction. You will be contacted by the Director you wish to meet with.

In summary, Spiritual Direction is about a desire toward a deeper understanding of three primary relationships, our relationship with ourselves, others, and God.

It is GOD who gives the growth

©LPI

11th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Growing season is in full swing in most of the country. And while my uncle in the Florida panhandle will regale us northerners with enticing stories of picking fresh tomatoes for the past two months, most gardeners are only now seeing the earliest fruits of their labors come to pass: spinach, asparagus, and lettuce. Spinach and lettuce tolerate the cool weather of spring, but a good bed of asparagus takes years to develop. Patience is rewarded with a harvest of crunchy stalks whose flavor surpasses that of any store-bought produce. Aside from corn, beans, and peas-vegetables whose seeds we actually eat-most seeds are tiny specks that belie the immense growth that is contained in their potential.

It is no wonder then that Jesus would use the image of a sprouting seed to describe the kingdom of God. After his death and resurrection, a few followers began spreading the good news about this man who offered salvation. The message sprouted in small communities around the Mediterranean and those adherents to the Way soon began to attract others. Even in the midst of bitter persecution the followers of Christ would refuse to abandon their faith. Like a stubborn, persistent plant, the believers refused to give up. The kingdom would continue to grow.

Even though the message of Jesus is two thousand years old, the kingdom of God still has a lot of room for growth. Like any plant, it needs to be nurtured, watered, and fertilized. That is our work as men and women who believe in Christ. We have to act on the teachings of Jesus in our lives each day. But also like any plant, it is God who gives the growth. We should not be so presumptuous as to think that if we just care for enough poor or preach enough sermons or teach enough children, that the kingdom of God will come about. It will come to fulfillment, but in God's good time.

Struggling with Our Complexity

by Ron Rolheiser, OMI

In a book on preaching, entitled, Telling the Truth, Frederick Buechner challenges all preachers and spiritual writers to speak with "awful honesty" about the human struggle, even inside the context of faith. Don't put an easy sugar-coating on things, he warns:

"Let the preacher tell the truth. Let him make audible the silence of the news of the world with the sound turned off so that in that silence we can hear the tragic truth of the Gospel which is that the world where God is absent is a dark and echoing emptiness; and the comic truth of the Gospel, which is that it is into the depth of this absence that God makes himself present in such unlikely ways and in such unlikely people that old Sarah and Abraham and maybe when the time comes even Pilate and Job ... and you and I laugh till the tears run down our cheeks. And finally let him preach this overwhelming of tragedy by comedy, of darkness by light, of the ordinary by the extraordinary, as the tale that is too good not to be true because to dismiss it as untrue is to dismiss along with it the catch of the breath, the beat and lifting of the heart near to or even accompanied by tears, which I believe is the deepest intuition of truth that we have."

Reading this, I was reminded of some of the preaching in my own parish when I was a young boy. I grew up in a small, sheltered, farming, immigrant community in the heart of the Canadian prairies. Our parish priests, wonderfully sincere men, tended however to preach to us as if we were a group of idyllic families in the TV series, Little House on the Prairies. They would share with us how pleased they were to be ministering to us, simple farm-folk, living uncomplicated lives, far from the problems of those who were living in the big cities.

Even as a young boy, living a sheltered life, this didn't always digest well. First of all, I didn't feel very uncomplicated and simple. I harbored a deep restlessness and had more than my own share of heartaches. I felt already then, just as I feel now, that both human life and the human heart have a depth that's always partially beyond our grasp. Also, wonderful as our community was, it too had its share of breakdowns, suicides, and interpersonal tensions. On the outside, we sometimes looked like little houses on the prairies, but underneath deeper things were always brewing. No one is spared both the wondrous mystery and the confusing pathos of life's complexity.

Good art is good precisely because it takes that complexity seriously and shines a light into it in a way that doesn't resolve the tension in too-easy a way. Poor art is invariably sentimental precisely because it does not take that complexity seriously, either by refusing to acknowledge it or by resolving it too easily.

The same holds true for good theology and spirituality. It needs to take seriously the complexity of the human heart. Thomas Aquinas once posed the question: What is the adequate object of the human intellect and will? In contemporary terms, that would be: What would completely satisfy our every aching and longing? His answer: All being, everything, all that is. We would have to know and be somehow affectively connected to everything that is for our restless minds and hearts to come to full peace. Given the impossibility of this in this life, we shouldn't be naïve as to how habitually restless and complex our lives are going to be.

The great gift of Henri Nouwen's writings is that they introduce us to the complexity of our own lives and then give us permission to understand that as normal. We aren't necessarily over-greedy, over-sexed, or over-restless. We are just normal human beings, walking around inside of human skin. That's what real life feels like! That is also a clear truth inside scripture and the gospels. The scriptures are filled with stories of persons finding God and helping bring about God's kingdom, even as their own lives are often fraught with mess, confusion, frustration, betrayal, infidelity, and sin. There are no simple human beings, immune to the spiritual, psychological, sexual, and relational complexities that beset us all.

And in the end, that's a good thing: Among other things it keeps us forever aware, often against our own fear and sloth, that the mystery of life is infinitely bigger than that with which we are most times comfortable. Our pathological complexity presses us ever towards greater light.

Importantly too an awareness and acceptance of the pathological complexity of our own lives can be the place where we finally find the threads of empathy and forgiveness: Life is difficult for everybody. Everyone is hurting. We don't need to blame someone. We are all beset with the same issues. Understanding and accepting that can help us to forgive each other - and then forgive ourselves.
